$5,000,000 FIRE AT NEW ORLEANS

Conflagration Swept River Front Sunday night.

COVERED 12 SQUARES.

A Serious Blow Given to the Immense Export Trade of the Great City of New Orleans.

BIG FREIGHT TERMINALS BURNED.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 27.—Fire involving millions of dollars loss in personal property and that strikes a serious, if temporary blow, at the immense import trade of New Orleans, swept the river front last night and wiped out the vast freight terminals of the Illinois Central known as the Stuyvesant docks. Nearly a dozen squares of modern wharves and freight sheds, two magnificent grain elevators, hundreds of loaded cars and vast quantities of freight, including 20,000 bales of cotton, were destroyed, together with a large number of small residences. The fire was still raging furiously at midnight, at which time it has almost reached the upper end of the Illinois Central property. It had not been determined whether there has been any loss of life. The ocean-going shipping seems to have escaped serious damage. A number of firemen and employes of the docks were injured. Actual estimates of the losses are impossible tonight, though they may exceed $5,000,000.

The Stuyvesant docks extend from Louisiana avenue almost to Napoleon avenue, a distance of twelve squares. The wharves between these two points were covered with miles of trackage and steel and iron shed ran the whole distance.

The two grain elevators were of the most modern construction, the upper one having a capacity of a million bushels. Thousands of bales of cotton, several hundred thousand packages of sugar, great quantities of cottonseed oil and oil cake, lumber and every conceivable variety of freight filled the warehouses and sheds.

The fire was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock. It was said to have resulted from a journal that had not been sufficiently oiled.

In half an hour the fire covered two squares, the lower elevator was practically consumed and the fire was sweeping with irresistable fury both up and down the river. As soon as it became known that the zone of the fire was the Stuyvesant docks, harbor tugs hastened to the wharves and vessels that were moored there were pulled out into the river.

At the same time switch engines were rushed to the wharves and hundreds of box cars loaded with freight withdrawn to point above the upper end of the terminals before the fire reached them. Hundreds more, however, were consumed.

The wind was blowing down the river as the blaze began and the fire spread with greater speed in that direction. By 9 o'clock the lower elevator and sheds and wharves from Amelia street to Louisiana avenue, a distance of six squares, had fallen in.

The river boats, the employes of the road and the fire department concentrated all their energies in an effort to save the upper elevator between Austerlitz and Constantinople streets and to check the fire at that point The fire, however, gradually worked past the point occupied by the elevator. Heroically the forces kept at work, but ultimately they were beaten and the big steel structure, covered with corrugated iron, suddedly burst into flames at 10:30 and in half an hour was a complete wreck.

At midnight more than nine squares of the terminals had been completely destroyed and it seemed unlikely that the fire would be checked until i reached Napoleon avenue, which also is a very broad street During the fire a heavy wind blew and the blaze was of indescribable fury, carrying brands to great distances, driving back the crowds of sightseers. Immense pieces of corrugated iron, tore the sides of the upper elevator, were carried through the air as if they were feathers and dropping in every direction, constantly endangered the lives of firemen and spectators

Student and Table Leaf Hauled in.

Police Chief Evans, of Williamsport, was somewhat surprised on Friday afternoon to see a student named Jamison, from State College, enter the Updegraff, carrying a table leaf under his arm. Knowing that the members of one of the State College classes had banqueted at the Park hotel during the previous evening, the officer became suspicious. Accordingly, the student and the table leaf were placed under arrest. The young man acknowledge having taken the leaf from a boarding house on West Fourth street, where it had been used as a barricade across a doorway to keep a baby from tumbling down a flight of steps.

The prisoner was given the choice of returning the board to its owner and pleading guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct, or be detained for larceny. Jamison returned the table leaf and paid a fine at Alderman Batzel's office. The student told the chief that he intended to carry the table leaf as a souvenir to State College, and was informed in return that the alderman's receipt for the fine would look pretty in a frame.

The door was forced open and the body of the physician was found on the floor. A 32-calibre revolver was lying close to the body. No cause can be assigned for the suicide. Dr. Freed was 42 years old and leaves a widow and one daughter.

CHURCH FLOOR GAVE WAY!

Frightful Catastrophe Occurs in Brooklyn.

13 CRUSHED TO DEATH

Fifty Others Were Injured—Funeral Services Were to be Held.

OVER REMAINS OF OLDEST MEMBER

New York, Feb. 28.—Thirteen persons were killed and upwards of fifty injured, some probably fatally, by the collapse of the floor in the Fleet Street African Methodist Episcopal church in Brooklyn Monday night. Of those killed ten were women, two men and one child.

The building was a rameshakle frame structure about sixty years old in the heart of Brooklyn in Fleet street, near Myrtle avenue. Arrangements had been made Monday to hold the funeral services of Snyder Tainter, one of the older members of the church, and the auditorium, which is on the second floor of the building, the ground floor being used by the Sunday school, was crowded with an audience of upwards of 300 people, of whom the majority were women.

OVER A HUNDRED CARRIED DOWN

The congregation was waiting in silence for the coming of the body and Pastor Jacobe was standing at the altar waiting the summons to meet the funeral procession at the door when a sharp cracking of timbers was heard and in an instant half of the auditorium near the door collapeed carrying down more than a hundred persons who were crushed in the wreckage of the flooring and pews.

The remainder of the audience finding themselves cut off from the door and expecting every instant that the rest of the flooring would collapse under them fought madly to reach the windows and in some instances leaped from them and sustained serious injuries

TEN BODIES WERE RECOVERED.

On the arrival of the police and firemen the work of rescus began. Those lying in the mass of wreckage on the lower floor could only be got at after the firemen had hewed their way to them with axes. Out of the wreckage ten bodies were recovered.

The cause of the collapse was the bad condition of the beams and rotted flooring.

Dr. William Osler.

Baltimore, February 28.—Dr. William Osler, of the John Hopkins university, whose "Age-limit" address at the commemorate exercises of the university last Wednesday has been the subject of wide spread comment, Monday gave out the following statement:

"I have been so misquoted in the papers that I should like to make the following statement:

"First. I did not say that men at 60 should be chloroformed. That was the point in the novel to which I referred, and on which the plot hinged.

"Secondly. Nothing in the criticisms have shaken my conviction that the telling work of the world has been done and is done by men under 40 years of age. The exceptions have been given only to illustrate the rule.

"Thirdly. It would be for the general good if men at 60 were relieved from active work. We should miss the energies of some young-old men, but, on the whole, it would be of the greatest service to the sexagenarii themselves."

Dr. Osler was asked if the senators and railroad presidents who have been named as contradictions to his theory were comparatively useless. He answered:

"In many cases the work done by these men could be better done by younger men."

Students from Argentine.

New York, Feb. 27.—To remain in this country for four years and diligently study agriculture, mining and civil and mechanical engineering, seventeen young men from the Argentine Republic arrived on the steamer Philadelphia from Cherbough, having a few days before the departure of the American liner from Cherbough reached France by steamer from South America. Their ages range from 18 to 20 years. A nephew of President Roca of the Argentine Republic is among the number. Ten of them are to be enrolled at Cornell University.

Pennsylvania Monument at Vicksburg.

At a meeting of the Vicksburg Battlefield Commission, held Friday in the City Hall, Philadelphia the award of the contract for the accepted design for the Pennsylvania monument on the Vicksburg battlefield was made to Albert R. Ross, of New York.

The commission arranged for five bronze medallion busts of the Pennsylvania commanders who took part in the battle to be placed upon the face of the monument.

These commanders were: Colonel, now General, John I. Curtin, Forty-fifth Infantry; Colonel Brenholtz, Fiftieth Infantry; Colonel John F. Hartranft, Fifty-first infantry; Colonel Matthew Dawson, 100th infantry, and Captain Durrell, commanding D, Battery Light Artillery.

Bellefonte should be proud to claim as a citizen a soldier such as Gen. John I. Curtin. Of the commanders above mentioned Gen. Curtin is the only one living He is a nephew of the War Governor Andrew G. Curtin and a soldier of unblemished record.

A Wreck at Vail.

A slight wreck occurred to an extra freight train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad at Vail Sunday night. When the wreckage was cleared away the body of a young man was found underneath it. The unfortunate one proved to be William A. Thompson, formerly of Vail, and aged about 28 years. He had recently been at St. Louis and was probably on his way home when he met the fatal accident. He was likely riding inside a box car which was among the cars demolished in the wreck. The young man was a son of Joseph Thompson, deceased, who was killed in a railroad accident near Howard about ten years ago. His mother now resides at Jersey Shore. The remains were prepared for burial at Samuel Graham's undertaking rooms, and were afterward taken to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. William Brower, at Vail, where the funeral will take place.

Jersey Shore Station Burglarized.

The New York Central freight station at Jersey Shore was broken into by burglars about 1 30 o'clock Saturday morning. The burglars gained entrance through a window by cutting out a pane of glass. The safe was dynamited, the door of which was blown through the side of the office and the office was badly wrecked. The report of the explosion was heard by several families in the vicinity of the station.

The intruders succeeded in rifling the safe and procured about $8 in cash. Other money which was in the office was left untouched The intruders made good their escape. They were seen running down the railroad tracks and likely boarded a freight train. Officers in the various nearby towns have been notified that it is hoped the perpetrators will be caught.

Pomeroy Will Not Be Pardoned.

Boston, February 24.—The petition for the pardon of Jesse Pomeroy, now serving a life sentence in the state prison for the murder of children, has been placed on file by Governor Douglas. This means that the pardon will not be granted.

Pomeroy was convicted in 1874 of the murder of Horace Millen and Nellie Curran, two children about his own age, which was then 15 years. The bodies were horribly mutilated and then buried by Pomeroy, who was alleged to have been actuated by a desire to witness suffering. He was sentenced to be hanged, the sentence being subsequently commuted to solitary confinement for life.

Short in His Accounts.

Charles Stansell, the American Express Co's agent at Philipsburg, on the occasion of the visit of the company's auditor Friday was found to be short in his accounts, and was placed under arrest. The shortage amounts to a little over $500. An effort is being made on the part of Mr. Stansell's friends in New York state, who were informed of the trouble, as well as by some of his friends at Philipsburg, to make good the shortage. He is still being held to await developments, and what will be the outcome of the affair is not known.

Son Succeeds Father.

Wallace Gephart, of Bellefonte, has been appointed to take the place of his father, J. W. Gephart, as superintendent of the Central railroad of Pennsylvania. For several years he has been acting in the capacity of assistant superintendent and has made himself familiar with the work in every detail. He is a steady, industrious young man, and there is no question but he possesses the executive ability to manage the road successfully.

DEATHS IN CENTRE COUNTY

Final Summons Has Come to Many Citizens.

FAMILIES BEREAVED.

Andrew Lucas Dies Suddenly--Mrs. Nancy Davis, an Aged Lady Called Home---Sad Ending of a Young Girl's Earthly Career.

VACANT CHAIRS IN MANY HOMES.

Andrew Lucas, a veteran of the civil war and a well known citizen of Spring township, died at his home on Half Moon Hill on Saturday evening between the hours of 11 and 1:30 o'clock. His death was quite sudden and unexpected and a great shock to his family and friends. He was in town on Saturday and in the evening attended and took part in the Salvation Army services of which religious order he was an earnest member. He seemed in the best of health and went to his home about 11 o'clock. About half past one a member of the family who slept in the same room and who had been out came in and was horrified to discover the dead body of Mr, Lucas lying beside the bed. The family was alarmed and an examination seemed to indicate that he had died from apoplexy.

The deceased was born at Runville, Centre county, August 29, 1840, and was the son of William and Margaret Lucas, both deceased. He was married to Miss Ellen Kuhn, who died about twenty years ago. He moved after his marriage to Bellefonte where he resided for forty years, following the carpenter trade. He is survived by three children Wm. F., Charles W., and Mrs. Willis Williams, all of Bellefonte, and one sister Ellen, also of this place.

Andrew Lucas had an honorable war record. He first enlisted August 19, 1861 in Co A, 49th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was seriously wounded at Garnet Hill, June 27, 1862, and was sent to the hospital. He received a gun shot wound in the left arm. He remained in the hospital until discharged October 31, 1862 He re-inlisted May 12, 1864 as Commissary Sargeant in Co E, 184th Pennsylvania Volunteers, was in the battle of Spotteylvanis, Cold Harbor, Deep Bottom, Weldon Railroad, Petersburg, Five Forks, and Appomattox Court House. Discharged July 14, 1865

He was a member of Gregg Post, No 95 G. A. R. He was greatly interested in the Salvation Army work and Capt. Sechler handed us the following tribute.

DIED AT HIS POST.

Andrew Lucas, one of the first soldiers sworn in the Salvation Army, in Bellefonte, always on duty at his post, as Color Sergeant, regardless of the weather, he was found at the head of the march. As he led the army up High street last Saturday night as the ring formed and he gave his testimony, "Warning sinners to flee from the wrath to come, inviting them to seek God, while it is yet today." No one thought it was for the last time. Back to the Army Hall where he again told of the saving and keeping power of Christ. Then to his home on Half Moon hill, where he was found dead at 1:30 Sunday morning. Funeral services were held in the Salvation Army hall on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. After a brief prayer service at the house on Half Moon hill the funeral procession started for the Salvation Army hall, on the second floor of the Centre County bank building where the services were held at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Capt. Sechler and Lieut. Crandal, of the Salvation Army. The services consisted of addresses, singing, prayer and reading of the scripture. The speakers were Capt. Sechler, Lieut. Crandall, Sargeant Major Theo. Snyder, Drum Major Mulbarger, Private Wm. Steele Jr., and Color Sargeant John H. Bryan and Joshua Folk.

After the Salvation Army services Gregg Post held brief services conducted by their Commander W. H. Musser, assisted by Chaplain James Harris, S. B. Miller, W. H. Taylor and Emanuel Noll.

The hall was crowded with people anxious to witness the services and to pay a mark of respect to a departed soldier and friend.

The pall bearers were W. H. Musser, S. B. Miller, W. H. Taylor, Charles Eckenroth, William Reed and John Dugan.

A squad from Company B acted as a guard for the body and fired a last salute over his grave. The interment was made in the Union cemetery.

FLORENCE ADELINE TANNER.

It is with feelings of extreme regret that we chronicle the death of Miss Florence Adeline Tanner, daughter of Mrs. Crissie D Tanner of North Spring street, which sad event occurred at the Bellefonte Hospital Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock as the result of an operation which she underwent on Friday for some inward trouble. Just as she was budding into womanhood "God's finger touched her and she slept." She had been ill only about two weeks and her death came as a great shock to her relatives and a wide circle of friends.

She was born at Renova, Clinton county, July 31st, 1886 which would have made her 19 years of age had she lived until her next birthday. The family have lived in Bellefonte for about five years. She graduated from the Bellefonte High School last June and stood very high in her classes and enjoyed the confidence and respect of her teachers and class-mates. Since her graduation she has been teaching school at Weaver's school house in Boggs township.

Surviving her are her mother, Mrs. C. D. Tanner, one sister, Stella, and two brothers, George and Forest.

She was a member of the Methodist church on probation, a member of the Epworth League and a teacher in the Methodist Sunday school.

The funeral took place Monday at 2 o'clock from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Crissie D. Tanner on North Spring street. The sad particulars surrounding the death of Miss Tanner drew forth the sympathy of everyone of her many friends and there was a large attendance at the funeral.

The services were very sad and affecting and there was hardly a dry eye among those present after the services which Rev. J. A. Wood, Jr., of the Methodist church conducted, were finished.

Many beautiful floral tributes surrounded the casket sent by class mates at the High school, the Epworth League, Miss Tanner's Sunday school class and other friends.

MAGIC IN ZUNI TRIBE.

Priest Apparently Lifted a Jug of Water With a Feather.

"The most startling feat I ever saw," said a man who had made a study of Indians in various parts of the United States for his own edification, "was performed by the priests of the Zuni tribe in Arizona, or, as they were called, 'The Ancients of Creation.' They seat themselves in a circle on the clay floor around a jar that will hold perhaps a gallon, an ancient and sacred earthen vessel, which is filled with water. The chief priest carries in his hand two ordinary eagle feathers, which are tied together at the quill ends so that they make a fork. Behind the circle of the priests are other members of the tribe and the musicians with their drums and gourds, who join in the chants with emotion.

"The incantations continue for several hours, and when the participants and spectators are brought up to a proper pitch of excitement the priest dips the feather tips into the water, lifts the jar with them and holds it suspended for a minute or two at a height level with his face or breast. Then he lowers it slowly to the ground. This feat is repeated several times during the performance. Apparently there is nothing in the hands of the priest but the feathers, and they appear to be inserted into the mouth of the jar only two or three inches. Of course there is some trick about it, but I was never able to discover it."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

SYMPATHY.

Sympathy is food to a starving heart.

Sympathy is two hearts pulling at one load.

Sympathy is the staff on which trouble leans.

Sympathy is the cream that rises on the milk of human kindness.

Sympathy in sorrow's hour is like the gentle rain to drooping flowers.

Sympathy is the least the rich may give, the most the poor can offer.

Sympathy is the blossom grown from the costly bulb called personal suffering.

Sympathy is a well toned instrument that readily responds to notes of weal or woe.

Sympathy is the most powerful human magnet for attracting and holding friendship.

Sympathy is perfect forgetfulness of oneself in true feeling for the unhappiness of others.

Sympathy is love's healing balm spread by pity's tender hand on sorrow's heart wound.

Nerves and a Milk Diet.

An entire milk diet is an excellent thing for the woman who is troubled with insomnia. It is also good for the one who is so nervous that when she does sleep she has the sensation of falling and wakes with a terrific start. When these conditions exist it is well to subsist on milk alone for some time. A grown woman should take a pint of milk as a meal, but to keep up her strength she should take four meals a day instead of the usual three. People with weakened nerves require a larger quantity of water than those whose nerves and brains are strong.

What "Light Diet" Means.

When a physician orders light diet for one who is just beginning to recover from a severe illness it is well to know exactly what dishes "light diet" includes. Here is a list given by a careful doctor of the writer's acquaintance: Clam, chicken and mutton broth, broiled filets of chicken, lamb chops, tenderloin steak, delicately cooked game, soft cooked eggs, dry and milk toast, cereal in small portions, koumiss, cocoa, custards, fresh fruit, gelatin jellies and sponge cake.

Love.

George—Are you quite sure that you really love me? Bessie—Oh, yes; certain of it. I never knew any one that could make me so furiously angry at times!—Exchange.

Even Then.

Think twice before you speak, and even then nine times out of ten the world won't lose anything if you keep still.—Somerville Journal.

A SISTER OF PEACE SPEAKS.

People Who "Energize" Through Life and the Indifferentists.

Generally speaking, energetic people are a torment. They are the cause of much of the good but still more of the ills of this life. I cannot forgive them the ills for the sake of the good, possibly because I possess that rare gift, a sense of proportion, and so can discern relative values.

Now, this sense of proportion is precisely what restless people lack. They are energetic by temperament, not by reason of outward circumstances—nay, I should rather say in spite of outward circumstances. They energize through life amid the calmest and most unprovocative surroundings to the infinite discomfort of their quieter brethren. If such a one ties his boot lace or cuts his bread it is a source of much discussion and feverish excitement. Should one of the brethren of peace venture to expostulate he calls down on himself a hurricane of abuse on the evils of indifference and the philosophic importance of trifles.

Certainly trifles must receive due consideration. They must be treated with respect. They should be attended to summarily, rapidly, and then dismissed forever. They are not worth excitement or nervous waste, and even total indifference to their claims is a lesser evil than the habit of creating for them a false atmosphere of magnitude. But the nervous waste is not the chief evil of overenergy. The greatest danger lies in its fatal attraction to its twin sisters, interference and influence.

The energetic man observes that the world around him is out of gear. Something must be done. Who should do it if not himself? Obviously no one else is attempting to set things right. He never stops to think, "Can anything be done, should anything be done, and, if so, am I the right man to do it?" No; his only certainty is that any action is better than no action.

What a fatal mistake! There is no action of any avail save the absolute right action at the absolute right moment. Failing that, no action at all is in every way infinitely superior.

We meddle in each other's affairs with influence and advice. Nine times out of ten our interference has a prejudicial effect. Yet, being for the most part thoroughly illogical and stone blind as to cause and effect, we pat ourselves morally on the back and continue serenely to meddle till the end of our days.

Apathy has a saving grace—its tendency to a sense of proportion. Almost invariably it possesses an intuitive knowledge of the relative significance of the events of daily life. When sufficient occasion arises, it forms its judgments with clearness and rapidity and atones for its normal torpor with bursts of intense energy and a height of enthusiasm to which few energetic people ever attain.

One of the worst symptoms of nervous disorder is the overmastering desire of the victim to "energize," the total inability for rest and repose. The patient wears out both himself and the world he lives among. Obviously indifferentists are the philosophers of life.

MABEL F. YATES.

A February Wedding.

All the decorations for a wedding in February were in heart shape. In the arches and doorways swung hearts of white lilacs, Roman hyacinths or violets tied with white or pale green ribbon. The marriage altar was built with the pier glass for a background, the mirror being curtained with strands of smilax. Near the top was a design of two hearts interlaced in violets and lilies of the valley. The bride's table had a large top made heart shape for the occasion, and midway between the center and the edge extended a wreath of smilax dotted with stem glasses filled alternately with violets and lilies of the valley. In the center was an immense heart of white and violet, and the candles in white had silver shades, with clusters of violets tied thereon. Wedding cake was given in heart shaped boxes of white satin, with the monogram of the bride and groom in silver.

Make into small cakes and bake in shallow pans.

When a Kick Helps.

When one lacks the courage boldly to advance along the perilous course his intelligence counsels, he is lucky if he can and will goad some one into kicking him along it past the point where retreat is impossible.—Success.

The Virtues of Vin-Te-Na...

Your knowledge of the workings of the "human machine" no doubt makes you aware of the fact that the nervous system is fed and sustained by and through the blood.

When the blood is charged with the elements which nature designed, the entire nervous system and all the organs are kept in a healthful state.

Without the force which the nerves absorb from the blood, both brain and body are poor machines. Vin-te-na contains just those elements which are wanting in impoverished, poor blood. It was found on both common sense and scientific knowledge. It has conscience and integrity back of it. Vin-te-na is the one medicine that does precisely what it was designed to do, i. e. gives life and nerve-food to the blood. It actually cures every one of those disorders which come from impoverished blood.

RUSSIANS OUTFLANKED !

St. Petersburg Hears Such is Kuropatkins Fate.

RUMOR NOT BELIEVED

Russian Military Circles Scout the Idea and say Japanese Are not in Force to Do Such Things.

ACTIVITY OF COSSACK COMPANY.

St. Petersburg, February 23.—3 a. m.—Rumors were current in this city Wednesday night that General Kuropatkin has been outflanked by a strong force of Japanese in the vicinity of Sinmintin and compelled to retire from the Shakhe river; but official despatches, so far as made public, and the Associated Press Mukden advices give no intimation that such a contingency is even remotely possible. Military circles scout the report entirely and say no body of Japanese of sufficient strength has been reported operative on the Russian right flank to force Kuropatkin to abandon his exceedingly strong position on the Shakhe, without a hard fight lasting several days.

Mukden, February 22.—A company of Cossacks which have returned from a long and perilous reconnaissance in the direction of Corea, penetrated by mountain paths as far as Hagoumin, eighteen miles northwest of the Yalu river, where they found and burned a large depot of Japanese provisions. Turning south the Russians captured a few miles distant, a transport of supplies, of which the command was in great need. During the course of the night the Japanese surrounded them on three sides.

The Russians position was dangerous, but a Chinese guide discovered a mountain pass, by which they escaped to Khuaizen mountain, 100 miles due north of the mouth of the Yalu river from whence they rejoined the army by way of little known trials.

The news of General Gripenberg's attack on General Kuropatkin has caused great indignation at Russians headquarters here and in army circles. General Gripenberg's departure was a surprise, as he had received no orders from General Kuropatkin to quit his post. He left Manchuria unceremoniously, without taking leave of the commander-in-chief. Even General Gripenberg's friends say that no matter what grievances he had, the present is not a fit time for venting personal feelings when the army must bend all its energies in its effort to secure victory.

That Tickling in the Throat.

One minute after taking One Minute Cough Cure that tickling in the throat is gone. It acts in the throat—not the stomach. Harmless—good for children. A. L. Three doses of One Minute Cough Cure half an hour apart speedily cured her. I cannot praise One Minute Cough Cure too much for what it has done in our family." It always gives relief. Washington Birthday Reception.

On Wednesday evening the Daughters of the King gave a delightful Birthday reception to the members and friends of St, John's Protestant Episcopal church. In was held in the Parrish room of the church and about one hundred or more were in attendance.

The exercises opened by singing the National hymn. There was singing by the male quartet of the Bellefonte Choral Society. The rector, Rev. George I. Brown, made a most appropriate address on Washington, as a man, a soldier and a churchman. The room was very beautifully decorated and there were choice refreshments served.

The order of the Daughters of the King deserve special credit for the great labor they went to in entertaining the guests and for the success which crowned their efforts.

No set of people do a better work among the poor and needy than do the Daughters of the King and they should be pheld in every way possible.

A Thousand Dollars Thrown AWay.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over gfteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did; and thanks be to this great remedy, it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar and would ask those afflicted to try it." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

She married J. C. Stover November 5th 1857, and this union was blessed with one son and six daughters, one daughter preceding her to the world beyond.

She has left to survive her husband, one son, C. H Stover, Aaronsburg, and five daughters, Mrs. John Grenoble, of Spring Mills; Mrs. Thomas Meyer, of Coburn; Mrs, Frank Guiswite, of Fiedler; Mrs. E. E. Ardery, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. George Weaver, of Aaronsburg.

Her age was 70 years, 6 months and 12 days.

Funeral services were held Friday morning at her late home, conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. E. Lauffer, and interment was made in the Reformed cemetery at Aaronsburg.

Notes from the Hospital.

Mr. A. Lukenbach was taken to the Bellefonte hospital Thursday afternoon suffering with a bad attack of Typhoid fever.

Harry Barnes, who is being nursed through a siege of typhoid fever, is getting along first rate now and unless unknown complications set in is on a fair road to recovery.

William Walker, who was operated on several weeks ago for appendicitis and underwent a second operation for an abscess of the lungs, has now so far recovered that he is able to sit up. All the other patients in the hospital are getting along nicely, which is evidence of the good care and attention they receive at both the hands of the physicians in charge and the various nurses in the institution.

A Night Alarm

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done unless Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. Sold by C. M. Parrish.

Awful Fate of Bright Little Girl.

Susan, a bright little 3-years'-old daughter of Horace Messenger, a merchant of Watsontown, but who resides on his farm about a mile from town, met a horrible death shortly after dinner on Saturday. The members of the family were in the basement churning and attending to some other household work, excepting the victim and her brother, who were playing up in the kitchen. Presently the folks down stairs detected a smell of burning clothing and suspecting that something might be wrong, hastened up to make an investigation. When they reached the kitchen a horrible spectacle met their gaze. The child's body was lying on the floor burned to a crisp. The hair, and every vestige of clothing was burned off except its shoes. The little boy had gone out a short time before, so that the little tot was alone when the accident occurred. It will never be known just how her clothing caught fire, but the impression is that she was playing with some lighted sticks and set fire to her dress.

NOT MUCH PEACE TALK

If Either of the Belligerents Are Doing it Washington Doesn't Know—Secret in their Capitals.

SECRETARY HAY HAS MANY CALLERS

WASHINGTON, February 24.—At the white house and at the state department, at the Russian, French, German, British and Italian embassies and the Japanese legislation yesterday, where inquiries were made regarding the rumors of peace between Russia and Japan, the most positive statements were made that if either of the belligerents were thinking of proposing peace, it was a secret securely locked in the foreign office at St. Petersburg or at Tokio. The president has heard absolutely nothing of an avowed intention on the part of Russia or Japan to sue for peace at this time, much less of an actual proposal. Secretary Hay yesterday assured three ambassadors that while this government continued ever hopeful for peace and watchful of the opportunity to be of assistance whenever assistance might be asked by the belligerents, yet there were no indications here that the time for peace was near.

In a long talk with a correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday, Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, said talk of peace was never more absurd than now. The ambassador has had positive information from the very highest officials in St. Petersburg that the war will be prosecuted with increased vigor,

"The peace talk can have but one object, said Ambassador Cassini, "the assistance of a Japanese loan. It is about time for Japan to raise another loan and these rumors of peace generally begin at such a time. I can reiterate, in the light of recent advices, I have received in the most emphatic manner that the war in the Far East will end when Russia is victorious and not a moment before. The recent disturbances in Russia, while annoying, cannot in the slightest effect the government's foreign policy."

Equally positive statements are made at the Japanese legation, that Japan, while of course, ready for peace on her terms as she has been since the war began, sees no outlook for a cessation of hostilities yet and is preparing to follow up the victories of last autumn with even more decisive battles in the spring now that the fall of Port Arthur has released the besieging army there it is available for operations in the north.

Big Fire at Beaver Falls.

Beaver Falls, February 24.—By a conflagration in the business portion of Beaver Falls at 5 o'clock Thursday morning a loss of $200,000 or more was sustained. The big furniture store of the Martsolf Furniture company was totally destroyed also the hardware store of W. J. Davidson, the shoe store of J. H. Rose, the clothing and gents' furnishing store of John A. Oakman and the buildings owned by Daniel Whitla and John Reeves damaged, also the stock of W. T. Reeder, stationer, and the Atlantic tea company.

The fire started in the basement of the Martsolf building a three-story brick with a frontage of 100 feet on Seventh avenue. It was first seen by F. M. Elrick, conductor on train No. 22, while he was on his way to work. The hose company was but a block way and in a few seconds they were on hand. Frozen fire plugs are responsible for the greater part of the damage.

Had the firemen had one good steam at the outset, they could probably have saved the buildings. The fire spread rapidly to Davidson's hardware store and soon was beyond the control of the firemen. The oil, paints, powder, etc., in Davidson's added to the fury of the flames and to the danger of fighting the fire A 30-inch brick wall was all that saved the business houses to the south of Davidson's from being destroyed. It was half an hour before a good water supply was obtained, this was used in saving adjoining buildings. Martsolf places his loss at about $110,000 with $75,000 insurance.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

A Large Vein of Ganister Rock Discovered Near Howard.

The town of Howard is located eleven miles Northeast of Bellefonte, and sixteen miles West of Lock Haven along the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad. During the year 1850, this location was one famous for all kinds of employ, the most wealthy product being iron, at that time manufactured at the Howard Furnace. To secure the ore to feed this early industry the iron ore was mined beyond the mountain along the base of the ridge.

One mile south of Howard is a very beautiful gap that affords the large teams easy access for drayage in former years in transferring iron ore to Howard Furnace; little did the teamsters, while on their trips through this lovely mountain pass dream of the hidden treasures not yet revealed to man at that time.

Sixty years has passed since the above development and now two others, not mineral, but formations of rock. On the left-hand side, before entering the mountain pass, will be found the red shale rock, which the best test of sample brick have already been made, also the plant to manufacture red brick, is being rapidly rebuilt. As you further travel until you are in the mouth of this wild and craggy mountain pass and look to your right you will notice a very irregular contour, and endings at the gap in a rounded knob or sugar loaf mountain. Among the different layers of rocks on this peculiar formation will be found seven different veins of ganister rock. Some one says, what is this rock used for? It is a rock from which fire brick are made, not the ordinary brick, but such as that which endures the greatest heat, such as used in furnace.

Should anyone doubt the assertion of our late discovery, we have samples in our beautiful town taken from this gap, which have been assayed and bears the best test of any in our state.—Howard Hustler.

Bellefonte Academy Wins.

The Academy basket ball five are proving themselves winners thus far and no mistake. They won another victory Friday night by defeating the heavy team from Juniata College by a score of 30 to 12. The game was both exciting and interesting and more closely contested than the score would indicate. The first half was very hotly contested and ended with the score 11-8 in favor of the Academy. In the second half the speed of the home boys was too much for their heavier opponents and enabled them to get in some very pretty shooting

The visitors were considerably out classed in shooting ability. A large crowd witnessed the game.

Her 80th Year.

A very pleasant surprise was given to Mrs. Orphe Pletcher, an aged lady who resides two miles west of Howard, and had reached her eightieth mile stone Friday Feb. 17. All preparations for the comfort of her relatives were arranged at the residence of her son A. A. Pletcher, who resides in Howard. Quite a number of presents were given to the recipient, among them was a very fine linen tablecloth by her son S. S. Pletcher, of Washington, D. C., also several other gifts by her nephews and nieces, among those were Mrs. S. F. Kline, S. I. Reber and wife, and Miss Sarah Pletcher. All present enjoyed the day very much.

Head-on Collision Near DuBois.

One of the worst wrecks that has occurred in recent years on the Low Grade division of the Pennsylvania railroad, took place Thursday afternoon at 5 50, near Iowa, a point eight miles west of Reynoldsville, as a result of a head-on collision between a passenger and light freight train. No one was killed, but nearly a score of persons were injured, several seriously and one or two probably fatally. The engine and baggage car of the passenger train were badly smashed.

When a woman gives up it is because she has gone to the utmost limit of strength and endurance. It is a marvel how women will stagger on under the daily household burdens when the whole body is racked with pain.

For the nervous, run-down condition which so many women experience, as a result of overstrain in household cares, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the weak stomach by curing diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood of poisons which cause rheumatism and other painful diseases. It nourishes the nerves, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for weakness, nervousness and debility.

"I want the whole world to know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Helen Hardgrove, of Bangs, Knox Co., O., "I had many of the ills of woman's life. My lungs and throat troubled me besides, and I had rheumatism. About a year ago I had to give up work I was so bad. I had heard so much about your medicine I thought I would try it. I took four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and by the time I had taken half of the first bottle I began to gain, and kept on getting better. And now I have no more of my old ailments and am entirely cured of rheumatism. I feel like a new woman."

Will Use Dynamite for Fire.

But five feet of water was in the Pottsville reservoir Wednesday, and the drought has assumed the most serious condition there for years. The fire department realizes that in case of fire, it would be powerless to cope with the situation with the use of water, and dynamite has been secured to use in case of fire. All the buildings that may be in the path of flames will be blown up.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Mar. 1st.

The Senate has been called in extra session to convene immediately after the fourth of March. Its presence will be necessary to confirm such appointments as the President about that time will make. There will at least be one new member of the Cabinet, a new Ambassador to Great Britain, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, and probably two or three others, with numerous minor appointments.

Time has somewhat mollified the the acute difference between the White House and the President, but the condition is unchanged. There are certain representatives of great corporations on the floor of the Senate and there can be no peace between them and the great corporations backing them on one side and the President of the United States with the people of the United States backing him on the other side. The President has nothing to ask from the Senate or the people. The people have given him all that he wanted, and he has publicly said that he wants nothing more, and for the next four years it is believed by those versed in political astrology there will be relentless war on every species of the monopoly. No matter how firmly it may be intrenched in the Senate of the United States.

At this writing the closing arguments in the tedious impeachment proceedings against Judge Swayne have been made, and Congress and the people breath a sigh of relief that the affair is made. Never, perhaps, on any business has the Senate been more closely confined for a longer time. Constituted as a court every lawyer among the Senators, and the majority of the Senators are of that profession, felt the necessity of hearing all of the testimony which they were to consider in their decision. The witnesses have been for the most part uninteresting and the testimony has been painfully wearisome. Realizing the mass of work that had accumulated and was waiting to be done the Senators have chafted under the tedious taking of testimony and have been fairly free in their self denouncement for having so blithely undertaken the business at this time. Five hours allowed each side in the closing argument and the settlement of the case allowed the Senate less than five days in which to transact the blockade of work that the delay has caused, Judge Swayne being acquitted.

Investigation of the Standard Oil Company recommended by the President in the unequivocal command to "begin at once, go to the bottom and report early" is going to prove a test of strength of the United States government that has seldom been equalled. The Standard Oil Company is one of the most powerful industrial and financial institutions in the world with ramifying interests in banks, railroads, lands, and great insurance companies, and when the United States undertakes to investigate this company it is not to be imagined where the work will end. The resolution, however, introduced by Representative Campbell, of Kansas, and which has given that heretofore obscure young man fame in a single night appeals to the popular imagination already quickened by the magazine and newspaper articles that claim to have been expositions of the conditions in the great trust organizations. Mr. Campbell is insistent for criminal prosecution of the company and in response to all interviews asserts that he has the material in hand to prove every charge which he made before Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, and that these, he believes, will make action by the Department of Justice an imperative requirement. Whatever the end of this investigation, and no average mind can begin to see the end, Mr. Campbell has set for government the biggest task it has undertaken and though the House, without respect to party, was eager to adopt the resolution offered by him it is believed that the party issues of the next campaign may be drawn on this very issue.

H. K. GRANT.

One of Philipsburg's Most Prominent Citizens Dead.

The Philipsburg Journal gives the following account of the death of H. K. Grant of that place.

We regret very much to be called upon to chronicle the death of H. K. Grant, one of our most prominent citizens, which occurred Wednesday at 12:20 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs Louis Gernon, on South Centre street, the latter being his niece, and with whom he had been making his home since last summer. His death was the result of heart trouble, with which he had been ailing for a considerable length of time.

The deceased has been a resident of Philipsburg about twenty-four years, coming here December 31, 1880 For a number of years he was engaged in the coal mining business as an operator, and has been identified with many different enterprises looking to the building of our town. He was always willing to give any worthy enterprise his support financially, as well as encouragement along other lines. A monument to his enterprise is the Grant block, the large and magnificient building that adorns the south-east corner of Front and Presqueisle streets, erected a number of years ago.

The deceased was born at Vernon, Conn., on July 4, 1831, making his age 73 years, 7 months and 18 days. He was the son of Sanford and Anna King Grant, who in the spring of 1840 left their Connecticut home and settled at Slocum Hollow, (now Scranton,) Pa., afterwards engaging with his father in the mining of anthracite coal. He was married on August 4, 1860, to Elizabeth Arnold. Milwaukee, Wis., who died March 18, 1875. To this union one son, George Arnold, was born, who died at the age of one year. He leaves to mourn his death a niece. Mrs. Louis B. Gernon, at whose home he died, a grand nephew, Grant Gernon, of this place, and Sanford Grant, a nephew, residing at Los Angeles, Cal.

The funeral took place on Saturday morning from the Gernon residence, with services at 10 o'clock.

Birth-marks which mark and mar the outside of the body are a grief to every mother whose children may bear them. But for every child who bears a birth-mark on the skin there are many who will bear an indelible birth-mark on the mind. Nervous mothers have nervous children and many a man and woman owes an irritable and despondent temperament to those days of dread when the mother waited the hour of her maternity. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the mother of her trial. With strength comes a buoyancy of spirits and quietness of the mind, which is one of the happiest gifts a mother can bestow on her offspring. By giving vigor and elasticity to the delicate womanly organs "Favorite Prescription" practically does away with the pain of maternity and make's the baby's advent as natural and as simple as the blossoming of a flower. There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic contained in "Favorite Prescriptions."

Sale of Household Goods.

SUPERINTENDENCY OF SCHOOLS.

Prof. Gramley's Successor Will be Elected During the Coming May—Some Good Suggestions.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN :—The writer is beginning to hear some discussion concerning the superintendency of public schools of Centre county. As we quite well know; the present incumbent's time expires on June 1, of this year, and his successor will be elected by the present school directors of the county, in May. Those new directors who were elected Tuesday of last week will have to bide their time until the next tri-ennial convention of directors for a similar occasion. By this arrangement every school director serving his full term, will have at least one opportunity of expressing his preference as to choice for county superintendent.

As both political parties claim that the judiciary and public schools should be kept out of politics, I take if for granted that what is here stated will be considered from a non political standpoint, just as it is intended. In this respect the Republican leaders of the state have quite plainly shown their non-partisonship in deciding upon the reappointment of Dr. C. N. Schaeffer as State Superintendent of public schools. Dr. Schaeffer was first appointed by the late ex-Governor Pattison, is a democrat. He served his four years, was reappointed by the Republican Governor Hastings, and again reappointed by the Republican Governor Stone, and now he is for the fourth time agreed upon for reappointment for four years more by a Republican, Governor Pennypacker. This gives him sixteen year's continuous service in the same capacity as a Democrat, twelve years of which were under Republican administrations. Surely no fair minded individual can charge the Republican party of Pennsylvania with thrusting politics into the public schools.

Another illustration where a good man for the place has been retained is that of County Superintendent George W. Weiss, of Schuylkill county, who is just rounding out his 25th year as superintendent of the schools of that county. Not only that, but at the recent annual School Directors convention of Schuylkill a resolution was passed increasing the superintendent's salary from $2,600 per year to $3,000 per year.

I am only quoting these facts to show how little politics the Republicans of the state allow to interfere in retaining a good man (although he be a stalwart Democrat like Dr. Schaeffer) and what directors of various counties consider good policy by retaining efficient men as county superintendents, such as Prof. Weiss, of Schuylkill, who has held the position continuously for 25 years.

Now to come to our home county. For the past dozen years we have had as superintendent of schools a gentleman and a scholar against whom not a single word can be said. That he has the hearty good will of all the educators employed is fully demonstrated by the unanimous action of the last Teacher's Institute at Bellefonte, last November, when the following resolution was passed by the Institute without a single dissenting vote :

Resolved—That we appreciate through careful consideration, that the public schools of Centre county are today moving on the high pinnacle of excellence and that we hope the same condition of affairs will continue, through the instrumentality of our present efficient county superintendent, Prof. C. L. Gramley.

I have not been advised as to whether Prof. Gramley is a candidate for re-election or not, but I do believe exactly as does ex-Senator Heinle, one of the Bellefonte directors, that the time has come when the directors of the county should take the matter into their own hands and elect the man who they know has done good service, irrespective of who or how many candidates there may be in the field for the place. If this conviction (and it is a candid one on the part of a large majority of the directors of the county) is carried out, there is no doubt but that the county convention of Directors in May will call upon Prof. Gramley to serve three years more, whether he announces for the position or not

Those interested in the public schools of the county know what Prof. Gramley has accomplished during the last dozen years far better than I can describe here. He has established a standard of which Centre county may well feel proud, and if he can at all be prevailed upon to accept the office for another term, by all means induce him to do so. As stated before, don't allow politics nor previous time of service to influence your choice. Decide upon the individual who you know has accomplished so much good to date, and who can do so much more during the three years to come.

If Schuylkill county finds it advantageous to increase the salary of its superintendent, after 25 years continuous service, from $2,600 to $3,000 per year, why not continue Prof. Gramley three years beyond his dozen? Prof. Gramley never received any such a salary and would never ask for it, nor do I believe he would even ask for an increase over what he has been receiving.

It is all a question as to how we can maintain the best schools. They were never better than they are now. Who made them so? None other than the present incumbent. Then why not retain him? The patrons and supporters of schools in each ward, borough and township have a voice in this which they can sound through the ears of each director representing them.

Rev. Jas, Boal, D. D, retired Presbyterian minister will preach in the Methodist church next Sabbath afternoon.

Centre Hall had a small pox scare about two weeks ago, which caused several amusing incidents. One of our doctors was called in to examine a sick women, and after diagonising the case said it might be small pox. The next morning he refused to return. Another physician hearing of it and fearing that it might be a simon pure case of unadulterated small pox also refused to take charge of it. The house was then quarantined. A third physician was sent for and he went and after a careful examination pronounced it a case of chicken pox. Dr. Harris, of the state board of health was then sent for and he confirmed the third doctors diagnosis. Some people were dreadfully frightened. One man wouldn't come up town for awhole week. Another was delegated to take a quantity of beef to the afflicted home, with fearful forebodings and trembling steps he began his march. As he approached the place the palor in his face grew more and more noticeable. Nearing the residence he paused a moment and then concentrating all the force he could command he hurled the meat onto the porch and when the people in the house who thought a cyclone had struck the building came to the door, no body was in sight. He had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed him up.

The writer has consulted Mr. Bullock and learned from him that he has already filed his acceptance of the office and is now making preparations to lift his commission and get the necessary paraphernalia together to attend to any and all business promptly and properly that may come into his hands. Lew says that he is going to help good things along and will marry the first couple free of charge and give them their first piece of furniture to start house keeping. Port Matilda.

High winds and cold weather prevailed here for the last four or five days.

The sleighing is getting a little poor around here, although some of the young fellows think they are in pretty good sleighing yet. They must be traveling up around about Hannah and down about Unionville. We are contradicted by Earnest who says there is fine sledding for him in town yet.

You had better let that nose of yours at home Sam. Of course you felt sorry to bother your girl, but then the handkerchief had to be washed or you would have to go out in the cool air to stop that nose bleeding. Of course that would not do. That'll be all right.

Everyone rejoices over the approach of spring.

The last of the sleighing has been made good use of by many. Last Thursday night quite a number of friends and old neighbors went to State College and spent a delightful evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Quite a large load of young people from Bellefonte were entertained at Scotia on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haugh. They were school friends of Thomas Haughs, and no doubt enjoyed immensely their little visit.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A Practical, Helpful Farm Paper.

To the Editor of The Tribune Farmer.

Sir: Again I greatly appreciate the fact that I can come to you for advice. I would wish that all the farmers fully estimated the value of the New-York Tribune Farmer. It appears to me a choice periodical of its kind, rich in all its departments, but especially so in all that pertains to veterinary science. I have been a subscriber and reader of quite a long list of agricultural papers, but to me the New-York Tribune Farmer brings more real, practical, helpful assistance than any I have ever read. There may be others as good, or better, papers for the farmer, but I have failed to discover them as yet. Yours very truly,

CHARLES S. BODMAN.

Gouverneur, N. Y., Nov. 29, 1904.

Through a special agreement with THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE FARMER we will send it with the Republican both papers, one year, for $1.00. Send your name and address to the Republican, Bellefonte, Pa.

GOOD BREAD.

The Way to Have Loaves That Will Be Satiny and Elastic.

Put four tablespoonfuls of shortening, either butter and lard mixed or one of the good fats on the market; two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a tablespoonful of salt into a bread raiser and pour over it a quart of boiling water. Place a yeast cake in half a cupful of lukewarm water and stir with a teaspoon till dissolved. When the water in the bread pan becomes lukewarm pour in the yeast and stir thoroughly. Add five cupfuls of sifted flour, beating it as it goes in with a wire whisk. When it becomes too thick to move with the whisk use a slitted wooden spoon and stir thoroughly, so that the flour and wetting may become well mixed. When it is spongy, but not dry, turn it out on a well floured molding cloth and knead. It can hardly be too well kneaded. It is the kneading that gives it the satiny smoothness and the elasticity which are invariable tests of good bread. It ought even during this process to begin to show bubbles in its texture. Knead them out as much as possible. When dough is put back in the pan to rise with bubbles showing here and there it will be full of holes and poor of taste after it has been baked. After the kneading is finished and the dough feels as smooth as silk wash the bread raiser and dry it; then rub well inside with butter or lard before putting the dough back again for the second raising. If this plan is followed the bread will slip out so clean after it has risen that the pan will scarcely require washing.—Good Housekeeping.

Think Straight.

It would be impossible for a lawyer to make a reputation in his profession while continually thinking about medicine or engineering. He must think about law and must study and become thoroughly imbued with its principles. It is unscientific to expect to attain excellence or ability enough to gain distinction in any particular line while holding the mind upon and continually contemplating something radically different.—Success.

Sign of the Gambler.

When you see a man excessively shined up, new overcoat, new hat, trousers painfully creased, shoes that reflect images of the surroundings; when you see him enter a car, throw the tail of his coat up his back before dropping into a seat, stretch out his legs, jerk up his trousers and begin to clean his nails, it is safe to bet $1,000,000 he is a successful gambler.—New York Press.

A Hard Task.

His Luck Changed.

"No, my dear, 'pon honor. This time I was in $11."

Forgiveness is a woman's privilege, is it not? And to need it is a man's.—Beatrice Heron-Maxwell.

Artificial Beauty In Rome.

Personal artifice is at least as old as the Roman empire, for, speaking of the artificial beauty of a coquette, Martiol says: "Gollu, you are but a composition of falsehood. While you were living at Rome your hair was growing on the banks of the Rhine. At night when you lay aside your silken robes you lay aside your teeth also. Two-thirds of your person are locked up in boxes for the night. The eyebrows with which you make such insinuating motions are the work of your slaves. Thus no man can say, 'I love you,' for you are not what he loves, and no one loves what you are."

A Lord Sold Into Slavery.

Charles Reade found the hero of his novel, "The Wandering Heir," in the person of Lord Altham of Ireland, who was sold as a "redemptioner" at Philadelphia in 1728 and who served for twelve years in effect as a slave to one or more masters in Lancaster county, Pa. The young nobleman was recognized by two Irishmen who came by accident to the house where he lived, and Admiral Vernon afterward took him back to Ireland. Reade laid the scene of Lord Altham's servitude in northern Delaware, but it is pretty well established that this was an error.

Today.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand, but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know, it is a cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of helpfulness. This we know, for we have learned from sad experience that any other source of life leads toward decay and waste.—David Starr Jordan.

His Diagnosis.

Mrs. Green—William, what objection have you to that young man who is calling on our daughter? Green—He is silly, Mary. Mrs. Green—Oh, that's because he is in love! I remember the time when you were a very silly young man. Green—Silly isn't the proper name for it, Mary. I was a measly idiot—that's what I was!

ARMOR PLATE CONTRACTS!

Representative Van Diver After Information.

HE IS FROM MISSOURI

Desires the Attorney General of the United States to Inform the House as Soon as Possible.

RELATIVE TO THE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

Washington, February 25.—Representative Van Diver, of Missouri, introduced the following resolution in the house Friday.

"Resolved, that the attorney-general inform the house at his earliest convenience whether or not any proceedings have been instituted either civil or criminal against the armor plate trust, and if not why not, and further.

"Resolved, that the attorney general also inform the house what steps have been taken by him to determine whether or not the said armor plate trust should be prosecuted for violation of the United States anti-trust law of July 2, 1890, or other United States statutes against trusts and combines in restraint of trade."

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

A preamble to the resolution recites that on September 6, 1901, the attorney-general was petitioned to institute civil and criminal proceedings against the Carnegie steel company and the Bethlehem steel company, as combining and constituting what the petition alleged was an armor-plate trust for controlling the price of armor-plate, and that there was filed with the attorney-general and with the president a statement of facts and evidence showing a conspiracy whereby the trade and commerce in armor-plate had been monopolized, and the armor-plate trust enabled to sell many thousand tons of armor-plate to the United States government at prices ranging from $445 to $520 per ton, after a duly appointed board of expert naval constructors had reported that the actual cost of the armor did not exceed $197 per ton.

The preamble further alleged an agreement between the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies as to prices and that they have divided the contracts of the government between themselves, each bidding lower than the other for one-half the armor required at any time by the government. Additional evidence of this conspiracy to prevent free and open competition in bids for armor-plate, the preamble continues, had been shown in the hearings of the present secretary of the navy, when, on January 26th, 1905, Secretary Morton stated to the house committee on naval affairs, that the bills of the Bethlehem and Carnegie companies for 7 800 tons of armor-plate, which had been opened on January 12 last, were discovered to be dentical. In spite of this accumulative evidence of conspiracy in restraint of trade, the preamble said, the secretary of the navy awarded contracts to these two companies at $453 per ton, when an independent company, outside of the trust, had of armor for $398 per ton, thus, the preamble says, increasing the cost to the government of $55 per ton in order to favor the trust, and "indicating the powerful influence which the aforesaid armor-plate trust has acquired over the government and officials of the United States."

No More Stomach Trouble.

The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says, "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." —Miss Bob White has broken more records for big business and has opened several new theatres where capacity has been tested, but it scored in Atlantic City a record which is likely to exist for some time. It opened its season at the theatre on Young's Pier in that place. They had played "A Chinese Honeymoon and was succeeded by "The Silver Slipper" which held the record for big business. John Young, veteran life saver and fisherman, now proprietor of the amusement interests in the Jersey metropolis, freely acknowledges that he made more money off Miss Bob White, the play gave better satisfaction and he had more people on his pier during its two weeks engagement than at any one time since he has played to the amusement loving public by the sad sea waves. Miss Bob White has been booked here and will be seen in a few weeks.

GOLD AND JEWELS.

VARIOUS FEMININE FASHIONS AND A FEW ITEMS FOR MEN.

The Slight Necklet and the Broad Collar—Amethysts and Emeralds. Extensive Use of Jewels In Full Dress—A New Watch Chain.

Of all recent jewelry fashions none has been so veritable a craze as the necklace. Graceful and often fragile in its innumerable aspects, from a single slight strand, with pendant, to a lightsome arrangement of festoons, its fascinations have been irresistible. But jewelry fashions are now almost as fickle as those in other lines of dress. So it should be no surprise that the broad collar promises to live again as the new favorite in throat ornamentation. If of a less charming grace than the necklet, its handsome presence adds greater dignity to the costume. Whether in many strands or in meshes or in elaborate scrolled panels of diamonds or pearls, held with diamond bars and having an attached pendant, it claims renewed attention. Of this and the many other pieces of jewelry that may enter into the elegant evening toilet of the present the accompanying cut gives an instance. The dress is of fine cream lace embroidered in pompadour fashion with pink and yellow, while the jewels include a dog collar and a long chain, both of very lovely pearls; a magnificent tiara of diamonds, a bracelet on either wrist and many rings.

Amethysts show themselves decidedly in the ascendant just now among colored stones. Indeed the feeling for these stones is quite remarkable. In most cases they are square cut and set with diamonds, pearls and even peridots. For years amethysts have had the go-by pretty effectually, but once more it seems to be realized how beautiful and effective they are, and the woman in the vanguard of fashion again considers them necessary to the completeness of her jewel case. Three to five strands of amethysts compose broad collars that are among the latest things affected by those who follow Paris fashions closely.

Emeralds have for some time enjoyed great favor and are considered particularly desirable at present. Jewelry expresses a passing fashion or an individual fancy, or it is beautiful for all time by reason of the rarity and perfection of stones and setting. In the former class are apt to come such smaller pieces as those of the second cut—an amethyst and pearl heart and scroll brooch, a pearl and turquoise fancy ring, a fine pearl, and diamond marquise ring, a diamond and amethyst pendant and a pendant of diamonds and rubies.

The fashion, familiar in scarfpins, of typifying in decorative designs the various sports or pastimes, such as hunting, golf, yachting, fishing, driving or riding, has been more widely adopted in men's sleeve links.

One of the new little wrinkles with good dressers among men is a quite narrow watch chain formed of small and very closely set links.

The heavy gold or silver safety pin a half dozen inches in length is the latest fancy for securing the toque, turban or other close headgear of the present with great firmness to the head. The pin is a very decorative affair, usually jeweled with one large central stone, a turquoise or of the semiprecious variety.

Flower designs are prominent in the new brooches for the coming season, and a flower pin is an attractive feminine device for fastening blossoms to the dress. AMY VARNUM.

THE SECRET FOOTSTOOL

A "non-burglar proof safe," my brother Ted laughingly called it. It was an iron box padded and covered with chintz to match our sofa and looked exactly like a footstool. In it he kept the jewelry he was mending, bracelets, watches and what not. Sometimes it contained many things of value. A footstool he argued, would be the last place in the world a thief would think of looking into for booty, and so far we had been lucky in not having received a visit from a burglar.

It was only after Ted left me alone that day that I felt uneasy, perhaps because our "safe" contained some very valuable bracelets that he had brought home from the shop to mend.

Presently I heard a step which I thought might be the landlady's.

"Perhaps Mrs. Brown has returned," was the thought in my mind as I sat gazing at the door; but then I turned cold with fear, for the handle was turned softly and a strange man looked in—a young man with a pallid, greasy, leering face, ornamented by a thievish-looking twist of hair on each side, while a limp cap of semi-military cut was stuck rakishly on the side of his head. I noticed these details mechanically as I sat petrified with surprise and fright, and I also noticed that his long dirty neck was without tie or collar, a shabby frock coat being buttoned up to his chin, and that his dirtier hands sported more than one ring.

This individual, after darting one swift glance around the room, slipped in and locked the door, saying:—

"Slick! Popsy-wopsy don't be frightened! I'm not going to hurt you—not a bit of it! But you see—Stop that!" he growled, for, as he approached me, I recovered myself and gave a good loud scream.

Quick as though he had his hand over my mouth—holding my chin and nose in such a manner that I was nearly suffocated; then he gave me a shake, saying:—

"If you do that again, I'll pay you out, you little fool! There—she is going to be nice and quiet now, ain't she? A picter of good behavior I calls her!"

Talking thus, he gagged me dexterously with some of my work—which, however, was pleasanter than his hand—ugh, that grimy hand—on my mouth, and then, producing some cord from his pocket, in a minute or two I was bound hand and foot in my chair.

"Look here, dear, if I loosen this cloth a bit, and you take breath, will you speak to me nicely? Only don't scream again; it makes me quite nervous to hear you scream, and can do you no good." How well I knew that, in a back room in a quiet street! "There—ain't it much more comferable? Tell me now, popsy—your brother's got some vallybies here, ain't he?

I shook my head.

"Oh, but he has; so you needn't fog your noodle like that! Better tell me where he's put them. It will save lots of time and be more pleasanter for you."

[redacted]

ut he had not yet disco[redacted]ed the secret my footstool. Can [redacted]ay one imagine hat I endured as I sa[redacted] there helpless, the cold perspiration of fear on my forehead, while I asked myself, "What will the fellow do next?"

Once he turned round while proceeding with his search and, looking at me, said:—"going to faint, are you? Oh, don't faint, for I shall want you to talk to me a bit! I'll open the window and give you some fresh air."

He went to the window—which dear Ted had cautioned me not to touch in the morning — unfastened the catch and would have left down the upper part, but he was saved the trouble, for, the cord being broden, down came the window, catching his fingers between the upper and middle frames. The pain and shock must have been dreadful, the window frame being a very heavy one. He howled and kicked, but all in vain. There he stood, with both hands caught in as nice a trap as could have been devised for an evil doer. Then he glanced up at me, and the sight of me, "picter of good behavior" that I was, filled his soul with remorse, since through his own act I was rendered powerless to assist him in any way. He whined, however:—

"Can't you help me?"

As it was impossible for me willingly to look on while a fellow-creature suffered such anguish as I knew he must be enduring. I used every effort to get free, but vainly. He had tied me too firmly for that. He took to kicking again, and began to swear horribly. May I never again hear such language, as I was forced to listen to that afternoon! His hands soon swelled, and I saw some drops of blood trickle slowly down the panes the rings he wore on his dirty fingers having been forced into the flesh. The piercing air which rushed fiercely in through the wide aperture must have greatly aggravated his suffering. I know I was nearly frozen. And all this time the American clock on the mantlepiece kept ticking off the moments tranquilly, as though to assure me that time could not be hurried into a quicker pace by any consideration of human distress.

Imagine what two hours in such a situation meant for both of us! Two hours! I think the poor wretch at the window fainted; but the horrible dragging of his body on his poor, mained hands roused him directly. Trembling with cold and commisseration, I sat watching him, the tears rolling down his cheeks. Oh, why had I refused Ted's kind proposition to send Cousin Milly to me? Why had I been so captious about her dear little baby? Better a room full of babies, all doing their worse than— But here I swooned, chair and all, on the rug before the cold grate, the fire having died out long since.

Just on the hour of three I was conscious of a dull thud below which I knew to be a knock on the street door. I lay listening, but wondering vaguely what would happen next rather than take any interest in the things of this life, from which I seemed in a manner to have floated away.

After an interval I heard steps plodding up the stairs, and a loud, cheery voice, which I recognized as that of our old friend, Mr. Joy, the carpenter, calling out:—

"Hilloa! Anybody at home?"

Coming to our room door, he knocked, then turned the handle, but of course found it locked. Being unable to speak, I tried to groan, and made some inarticulate noises; but I could hardly hope the old man heard them, as he was somewhat deaf. As for my companion in misfortune, one would suppose he would gladly have hailed a prison as an escape from such a plight as he was in; and no doubt he would, only he had no choice at that moment, having gone off again in a swoon.

I heard the carpenter go down stairs and hopes of relief died away in my breast. Oh, Joy, Joy, why did you come to mock me thus? Two more hours, probably, before Ted would come home! Shall I be alive by then? My bound and aching limbs were on the rack of pain; I lay and sobbed miserably. But bark! A shout from the back garden!

"What the dickens is all this?

Again I heard the voice of Joy.

It appeared that the carpenter, on trying our room door, and finding it fastened concluded we were all out, but went around to the back of the house to "take a look at that threer winder" which my brother had sent him to mend—of course not expecting to find it converted into a man trap. He had noticed, while knocking at the street door, that the parlor window was unfastened, and thinking it unsafe, especially as Mrs. Brown was out, he had used his privilege as an old friend of hers to get through and fasten it before coming upstairs. No doubt the thief had entered the house by that way.

It was not long before help came, and the door was broken open, when our misery was ended. I dare say, since prisons were first built, there never was a culprit who walked into jail more meekly than did the one who had intended to rob my brother.

They say there the poor fellow's hands will never be right again, amputation may be necessary as erysipelas is setting in. Well, all I can say is, I freely forgive him for the suffering, mental and bodily, he caused me.

I was in bed for a fortnight, but eventually got all right again. Dear Ted says I am a brick, but that may be his partiality. Anyway, my footstool proved to be a very effective safe. To this hour no one knows it but you, Ted and myself.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

The post office department has ruled that a rural mail carrier need not deliver mail where his safety is threatened by yelping curs. A GOOD SHOW.

Miss Verna May and Her Company Made a Hit.

Miss Verna May and her repertoire company opened a week's engagement at Garman's Opera house on Monday night to a large audience. They presented a very pretty comedy-drama "The Queen of Hearts." The play was nicely staged and well acted, the company appearing to good advantage.

Miss Verna May in the leading role as "Slivers" made a decided hit. She amply justified the title "Little Sunbeam" bestowed upon her by some of her admirers. She is certainly a clever little soubrette and will be a great favorite here She received good support from Norman R. Field, George Weston, Hugh J. Adams, V. A. Varney, Ed F. Silers, H. A. DuBois, F. H. Slough, Miss Virgie Lee, Miss Jessie Eagan and Miss Grace Kent.

The vaudeville features including the moving pictures and illustrated songs added great interest and enjoyment to the performance.

Chas. Arnolda in his clever impersonations and his really wonderful juggling feats, was one of the best vaudeville features ever seen on this stage. All the specialties were of the kind that captivates and every one received several encores. The scenery and mechanical effects were excellent.

Mr. Price was born in South Wales within four miles to a town called Abdera on Feb. 4, 1859, came to this county in childhood and died in Philadelphia on Feb. 2, 1905, within two days of being 46 years of age. He was married when only 19 years of age to Miss Hannah Philips at Arnot, Tioga Co., and after a time moved to Snow Shoe and made it their future home. Seven children survive him, all residents of Snow Shoe: Mrs. Harry Ponnell and Mrs. C. H. Hall, Miss Anna, Robert, Verna, Lewis and John still at home with their mother.

Mr. Price was of a quiet disposition but bright, happy and active. He had been in the employ of the Lehigh Coal company for 21 years, 15 years of which he was as a foreman. For several years he was a member of the Mine Examining Board for Foremen in the soft coal region and in that capacity showed considerable ability.
